Training

Know-how of a longtime market leader in the temporary corrosion protection sector!

■ Product characteristics

The BRANOscience business unit provides the know-how of a longtime market leader in the temporary corrosion protection sector besides analytics and application technology.

You are able to upgrade your knowledge of temporary corrosion protection with the help of our experienced employees. You'll find out how to protect your premium products efficiently in theory and practice, true to our slogan: „Maintaining the values of good products“.

You would like to train your employees in preventive measures against rust? Don't hesitate to ask us! We are able to offer you a perfect fitted training, thanks to our modular presentation system.

All our training courses are available on site or in our training classrooms. Depending on your needs, we are able to arrange crash courses which last no longer than an hour or daytime events for groups up to 20 people.
